The forward staterooms use one of the many advantages of the pod, in this case, the space and the headroom above the berth. Both cabins have their en-suite head with shower, washbasin, toilet, and plenty of lockers. To port and aft there are also staterooms with en-suite heads. To starboard and aft, the cabin houses a 160 x 200 cm berth which can be oriented and separated. Opposite one of the wide stairways down to the passageway is a head with shower, washbasin, and toilet. This head is useable both by the occupants of the aft cabin, or as a day head by the rest of the crew, thus preserving the privacy of all onboard.

:	In 2018 the standing and running rigging has been replaced. BlueWave spanners and compacted inox wires, running is and mostly Dyneema lines. All electrical wires in the mast also replaced in 2018. The Privilege 465 has all the attributes of performance: an optimized sail area - displacement ratio of more than 12 sq. meters - ton upwind and up to 25 sq. meters - ton off the wind. With an 8-9 fractional rig, the Privilege 465 is equipped with a single spreader aluminum alloy mast (free- standing, balanced by cap shrouds and lower shrouds, forestay, and baby stay). So, whatever the wind conditions and sea state, it is easy to adapt the sail area to the prevailing weather and to keep loads applied to the mast in perfect balance. The Battcar system was changed to the solid Harken system. Spare cars are on the boot. The privilege comes with 5 sails, all in very good condition.
